Provenance

This collection consists of items both purchased and donated from Harold A. Dunkelberger's estate. Working thought Library Director, Robin Wagner, throughout the summer of 2013, Harold R. Dunkelberger donated the bulk of the material including his father's research and travel papers and departmental records which were separated and added to the Department of Religion records. Donated materials also included books and a stole. Items from Betty Dunkelberger's involvement with the formation of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority were also included in the original donation. Additional items were given by Harold R. Dunkelberger, through Robin Wagner, at intervals over the summer and included diplomas and a relief sculpture (possibly from India).

During the estate auction items were purchased for the collection including one of Dunkelberger's footlockers from his time in the Army and multiple shoe boxes full of family letters. These letters were written to and from members of the Dunkelberger, Rebert, and Lightner families and date from the 1890s through the 1950s. A scrapbook containing photos of the Aberly and Dunkelberger families, including many from their missionary work in India, was loaned to Special Collections following the auction. It was photographed and is included here on DVD and as a print out of the digital surrogate.

Biography

Harold Aberly Dunkelberger was born on May 9, 1915, in Bangalore, India, to Christian missionaries Rev. Dr. Roy and Amy (Aberly) Dunkelberger. After living in India with his parents for his early childhood, Harold spent his youth living in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania with his grandparents, Dr. John and Alice Strauss Aberly, and his sister, Lida. Dr. John Aberly was a graduate of Gettysburg College class of 1888 and Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg 1889 and served as a missionary to India before becoming president of the Seminary in 1926, a post he would hold until 1940.

Harold Dunkelberger attended the Gettysburg Academy and went on to earn a degree in English from Gettysburg College, graduating summa cum laude 1936. He was a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, Phi Beta Kappa, and Der Deutsche Verein. During his senior year, he served as the president of both Eta Sigma Phi, the National Honorary Classics Fraternity, and Tau Kappa Alpha, the National Honorary Forensic Fraternity. The 1937 Spectrum lists his participation in organizations including the tennis team, rifle team, debating club, and orchestra at different times during his college career. While attending Gettysburg, Dunkelberger was recognized with the Muhlenberg Freshman Prize, the Brewer Greek Prize, and the Garver Greek Prize.

He would continue his studies at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, from which he graduated in 1939, before going on to earn his doctorate in theology from Columbia University in 1950. In 1962 he completed a post-doctoral study at Oxford University in England, and in 1979 he was presented with an honorary degree from Susquehanna University.

Following his marriage to Betty Rebert of Newport, PA in 1940, Harold Dunkelberger became the pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in Mechanicsburg, PA in 1941. He served as an Army Air Corps chaplain in World War II from 1942 to 1946, after which he resumed his post in Mechanicsburg. After the completion of his doctoral degree in 1950, Dunkelberger was hired as an associate professor of Biblical Literature and Religion at his alma mater, Gettysburg College. He served as the College's Director of Development and Alumni relations beginning in 1958 before being promoted to professor of Religion in 1960. Three years later he was elected head of the Religion Department, a position he would hold until his retirement in 1983. Dunkelberger also served as a College Marshal from 1972 to 1983, and in 1979 he was appointed the College's Director of Church Relations. In 1978 he published One Body We: A History of the Central Pennsylvania Synod, 1938 – 1978, a study on the Lutheran Church in Pennsylvania. After his retirement he was presented with the Lindback Foundation Award for Distinguished Teaching, and in 1991 he was recognized by the Gettysburg College Alumni Association with the Meritorious Service Award. Following his retirement, he remained a professor emeritus of the Religious Studies Department.

Harold Dunkelberger was active in the community throughout his life. He was a member of several organizations including the Rotary Club, serving as the president of the Gettysburg chapter from 1957 to 1958 and the Governor of Rotary District 739 from 1972 to 1973. Dunkelberger was a thirty-third degree Mason and held several leadership positions within this association, as well as serving as a board member for the Adams County United Way and Adams County Office for the Aging and president of the Senior Adult Community Theater Society of Adams County. He was involved with administrative aspects of Gettysburg College and the Lutheran Church, attending and helping to plan several conferences based on guidelines for Lutheran higher education. He traveled extensively in order to complete research for his academic work, visiting India, Japan, and China, as well as several countries in Europe and Africa. Dunkelberger also traveled with his family, visiting locations such as Germany with his wife Betty and their two children, Harold "Hal" R. Dunkelberger and Lida Dunkelberger.

Betty Rebert Dunkelberger was born in March of 1915 to Clarence H. and Grace Lightner Rebert of Newport, Pennsylvania. She attended Newport High School and graduated first in her class before attending Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania from 1933 to 1937. She graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in Teaching and worked for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, first in the Treasury Department and later in the Department of the Auditor

General. After her marriage in 1940, she moved to Mechanicsburg, PA, with Harold, where she was active in civic organizations including the Junior Women's Club. She later worked as a substitute teacher in the Gettysburg Area School District while Harold was employed at the College. She was a member of the board of directors within several organizations including the American Association of University Women and the Medical College of Pennsylvania, and she served as an advisor for the Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Following Harold's retirement in 1983, the Dunkelbergers continued living in Gettysburg until Betty's death in march of 2000. Harold Dunkelberger passed away on October 22, 2012.

Scope and Content Notes

This collection includes materials relating to Harold A. Dunkelberger's life and work in relation to Gettysburg College and the Lutheran Church, as well as his personal and family relationships. It contains notes and records used while he was a professor in and later head of the Religion Department, as well as information about aspects of College administration and alumni relations in which he was involved. Additionally, Gettysburg College publications for events with which Dunkelberger was not directly connected are present in the collection. Academic correspondence with faculty at Gettysburg and other institutions is included, as well as several pieces Dunkelberger reviewed prior to publication. Planning materials and minutes from a variety of conferences attended by Dunkelberger make up one series, as does memorabilia from the travels he undertook as part of his work.

The collection also contains a great deal of information about Dunkelberger's personal experiences and family history. There is little material available about his time studying at Gettysburg College, but some relating to his alumni status is present. Information about his community involvement before and after his retirement can be found within the collection, as can a record of Betty Dunkelberger's extensive participation in community service and her family history. Photographs and photocopies of newspaper articles primarily concerning Harold A. Dunkelberger and members of his family each have their own series; photographs date from approximately the 1930s to the 1990s and newspaper articles date from approximately 1916 to 2000. Personal correspondence forms a substantial part of the collection. The letters included were primarily written between Harold and Betty (Rebert) Dunkelberger, but the collection includes the correspondence of Betty's relatives of the Rebert and Lightner families.

The collection offers a broad biographical picture of Harold A. Dunkelberger, though information about his life prior to his graduation from Gettysburg College in 1936 is scarcer. It gives insight to the operations of the College, particularly its Religion Department, from about 1960 to 1983. From studying the collection, one is able to draw conclusions about the history of the Dunkelberger, Aberly, Rebert, and Lightner families, as well as relationships between individuals connected to Dunkelberger himself. Overall, it provides a depiction of the active life of Harold A. Dunkelberger and his contributions to the institutions he served.

More information about Harold A. Dunkelberger and his family is available in several locations. Special Collections holds transcripts of five interviews conducted with Dunkelberger during the 1990s and 2000s. In these interviews Dunkelberger discusses topics including his early life and family, attendance at Gettysburg College, teaching and administrative experience working for the College, and involvement in the Rotary Club of Gettysburg.

Information about the life and works of Dr. John Aberley, grandfather of Harold Dunkelberger, can be found in The Diary of Rev. Dr. John Aberley: The India Years 1889 to 1923 and Gettysburg and the Call to Mission in India, both by Samuel W. Schmitthenner. A manuscript collection of materials belonging to Dr. John Aberley, including diaries and papers, is available at the Abdel Ross Wentz Library of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg.

Series Description

The collection is divided into eleven series: 1. College Administration, 2. Teaching and Academic Work, 3. Church, 4. Conferences, 5. Travel, 6. Betty Dunkelberger, 7. Personal Life and Family, 8. College Events and Information, 9. Photographs, 10. Newspapers, and 11. Letters.

Series 1: College Administration

This series includes materials regarding Gettysburg College events that Harold Dunkelberger was directly involved in the planning and execution of. It includes information on the Leadership & Special Gifts Committee, Fund Raising, Reunions and Alumni Weekends, Class Giving Records, Commencements, Alumni Awards, and other events and committees.

Series 2: Teaching and Academic Work

The series contains materials directly related to Dunkelberger's advanced studies and activities as a professor and department head at Gettysburg College. It includes thesis work, academic papers he helped to review, class syllabi and notes, professorial evaluations, and academic and interdepartmental correspondence.

Series 3: Church

The series is comprised of materials related to Dunkelberger's work with the Lutheran Church before, during, and after his employment at Gettysburg College. It includes literature on the administration of Protestant colleges, documents about the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, history of the Lutheran Church and the Central Pennsylvania Synod, religious services, and information connected to Dunkelberger's service as a chaplain in World War II.

Series 4: Conferences

The series includes materials from conferences that Dunkelberger attended or helped to plan. The conferences all have to do with academic administration or religion, and in most cases, both. They include the National Congress on Church-Related Colleges & Universities, American Academy of Religion, Society of Biblical Literature, Association of Lutheran College Faculties, the Danforth Foundation, and the Lutheran Educational Conference of North America (LECNA), as well as several smaller conferences. Also included are publications by these associations, some of which Dunkelberger helped to produce.

Series 5: Travel

This series contains materials having to do with the numerous trips and tours Dunkelberger took while working as a professor at Gettysburg College as well as during his retirement. Much of this travel was completed while Dunkelberger was on sabbatical, allowing him to complete research that would later be used in his academic work. Dunkelberger was usually accompanied by his family, but in some cases he led groups of students. Specific dates are difficult to identify as Dunkelberger typically visited several countries during each of his tours. The series is comprised of materials from the following trips: Europe and India, 1962; Hong Kong and China, 1966; Japan, 1967; Japan and Taiwan, 1969; India and Africa, 1969. Some miscellaneous and undated travel documents and information is included as well.

Series 5, Sub-Series 1. Reports

The sub-series includes a small amount of material in which Dunkelberger reported on his travels. The majority of the reports are connected to his paper, "The Religions of India's Outcastes."

Series 5, Sub-Series 2. Travel Diaries

The sub-series is comprised of Dunkelberger's daily planners and accompanying itineraries and mementos from the following trips: Europe and India, 1962; Japan, 1967; India and Africa, 1969.

Series 6: Betty Dunkelberger

This series includes materials relating to the personal and professional life of Harold Dunkelberger's wife Betty Rebert Dunkelberger. It contains information about her attendance and alumna status at Wilson College, family history research and related correspondence, and her work with the Medical College of Pennsylvania Commonwealth Board, Alpha Delta Pi, the American Association of University Women, and the International Federation of University Women.

Series 7: Personal Life and Family

The series is comprised of materials having to do with Harold Dunkelberger's attendance and alumni status at Gettysburg College, his personal activities, and the Dunkelberger family. It includes correspondence, commencement programs, College and alumni newsletters, information on his honorary degree from Susquehanna University, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Sigma Kappa, his work as the Class of 1936 correspondent, and the family's 1980 and 1984 vacations to Oberammergau, Germany.

Series 8: College Events and Information

This series contains materials related to Gettysburg College that do not specifically have to do with Harold Dunkelberger. The information dates from the 1970s to the 1990s and includes College brochures, programs from musical performances, inauguration of the College president, art exhibitions, lectures, the Center for Public Service, and the 1990 Eisenhower Centennial Celebration.

Series 9: Photographs

This series contains photographs dating from approximately the 1930s to the 1990s, the majority of which depict Harold Dunkelberger. The photographs are related to Dunkelberger's work with the Lutheran Church and Gettysburg College, his travel abroad, and his community involvement.

Series 10: Newspapers

The series is comprised of photocopies of newspaper articles dating from October, 1916 to July 13, 2000. The majority of the articles were originally published in The Gettysburg Times and have to do with the life and work of Harold Dunkelberger and his immediate family. Older articles provide context about the history of the Aberly, Lightner, Rebert, and Dunkelberger families.

Series 11: Letters

This series includes the personal correspondence of Harold Dunkelberger, Betty Rebert Dunkelberger, and the Lightner and Rebert families. It is divided into sub-series based upon recipient and date.

Series 11, Sub-Series 1: Letters to Harold Dunkelberger from Betty Rebert Dunkelberger

Letters within this sub-series date from approximately 1930 to 1937 and cover the majority of Harold and Betty's relationship preceding their marriage. Betty discusses her own and Harold's years in high school and college, as well as her search for a job and his concurrent attendance at the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg.

Series 11, Sub-Series 2: Letters to Betty Rebert Dunkelberger

Letters in this sub-series are addressed to Betty Rebert Dunkelberger by a variety of correspondents, with Harold Dunkelberger and Grace Lightner Rebert appearing most often. The majority of the documents date from approximately 1930 to 1942, covering Betty's years in high school and college, her post-graduate employment, and her separation from Harold during his doctoral study at Columbia University following their marriage.

Series 11, Sub-Series 3: Letters to Grace Lightner Rebert

This sub-series includes letters addressed to Betty Rebert Dunkelberger's mother, Grace. They date from approximately 1895 to 1957, with the majority of the letters predating her marriage to Clarence H. Rebert in 1904. Correspondents include her brother, Harry A. Lightner, her cousin, Lida, and a variety of beaux including Clarence. The majority of the later letters were written by Betty during her attendance at Wilson College and following her marriage. Bulk dates for the sub-series are March and April, 1915, offering congratulations at Betty's birth, and November, 1935, sending condolences at Clarence's death.

Series 11, Sub-Series 4: Letters to the Lightner Family

Letters in this sub-series date from approximately 1898 to 1929. They are addressed to various members of the Lightner family, including Harry A. Lightner, Grace's brother; I. Newton Lightner, her father; and Elizabeth A. Lightner, her mother.

Series 11, Sub-Series 5: Letters to Clarence H. Rebert

This sub-series contains letters addressed to Clarence H. Rebert, dating from approximately 1899 to 1930. The majority of the letters were written by Grace Lightner Rebert and predate their marriage in 1904.
